Speaking of those 'non-mainstream assignments', since my last update below ("Two Bob Bits") for those 'fans of faith' who may be interested: I have inked two stories so far for Kingstone Comics for their 'Kingstone Bible', both over the pencils of Richard Bonk- 'Amos' and 'Habakkuk'. And I will be getting more work coming up over some SURPRISE pencil artists. I'm also doing a short 'Jittery Tales' story for my former boss at Ravesnake Comics. Between these gigs, Inkwell Awards obligations and the holidays, I'm glad I don't have any shows to attend for the immediate future! So as the note says in my newsflash above, sorry, my commissions list is closed. But 2016 is looking brighter;-)
